

Hello everyone! I'm Sebastian, student of analysis and development of information systems, also, a podcast speaker and today I'll explain you some languages differences with some verbs, I hope you enjoy reading and listening this podcast.

Well, what are phrasal verbs?

Phrasal verbs are phrases that indicate actions, they are an informal way to communicate within native and English speakers.

The verbs that I'll explain you are:

- Go away
- Go back
- Go on

The verb Go can mean:

1. move from one place to another; travel
2. leave; depart

It can be used as a noun:

1. an attempt or trial at something
2. a person's turn to use or do something

But in general, it is used with a lot of definitions because of the use of it as a phrasal verb.

Go away

First meaning: to leave a place or person

Second meaning: to stop existing or happening: to end

This are some examples about how it is used for:

- He told her to go away and stop bothering him
- We're going away on vacation
- I just wish there was some way to make the pain go away

Go back

First meaning: to return or to be returned

Second meaning: to have existed since a time in the past

This are some examples about how it is used for:

- I'll have to go back for my umbrella.
- When does he go back to school?
- Their relationship goes back to when they were at college together

Go on

First meaning: to happen or to continue

Second meaning: to move to the next thing or stage

This are some examples about how it is used for:

- This war has been going on for years
- He likes to know what's going on
- What proportion of people who are HIV-positive go on to develop

There are a lot of phrasal verbs with the verb Go but I just have taken the most relevant to me, I hope you understood the use of they and practices and learn a lot! Byeee!...
